SPOKANE, Wash. Aug. 27.—For eleven bours the people of Lane, Ida., have been fighting the flames which threatened to destroy their prosperous little city. At noon today it was believed the fire is checked and the danger over; but damage estimated at $100.000 had been done at that time. The fire started about midnigat in the mill of the Lane Lumber company and had good headway when discovered. The department responded, but the rotten hose broke repeatedly and the fire spread through the fig lumber plant. The people turned out enmasse and for hours fought the fire with buckets and everything available. The railroad track, which separates the mill from the business part of the town, made it possible to check the flames, but the Lane mill, the dry klins and a large portion of the lumber could not be waved. The loss is estimated at $100.000, fully insured.
